

PRIVACY POLICY:

Parispropertiesllc.com is serious about protecting your privacy online. Thus, we have created this Privacy Statement, which discloses our information gathering and dissemination policies and practices.

All information collected by Parispropertiesllc.com is used to facilitate transactions through the site, and to help us contact you when necessary in connection with these transactions. We also use this information to send you information and special offers from our company, and promotional material from some of our partners, such as discounts, special offers.

Your e-mail address is used to send you verification of your online purchases, and to deliver your receipt of payment if applicable. Your name and mailing address are used to verify your credit card during your payment or for mailing your receipt to your residence if applicable. Additionally, from time to time we may send special announcements and notifications, or products and services that might be of interest to you.

Your telephone number will be used to contact you for customer service, if necessary. Additionally, from time to time in connection with certain campaigns and programs administered by us, we may conduct telemarketing activities and you may be contacted by telephone to be advised of special announcements and notifications of events, products or services.

Your credit card information is collected in order to bill your account for the amount of your purchase. We share your information only with your credit card company, and those third parties necessary to process your transaction, such as companies that handle shipping on your behalf, or third parties from whom you purchase goods or services. We never release this information to any other third parties. When you make a purchase on this site, your consent is given to provide your credit card information to those third parties who require it in order to process your order.

Paris Properties, LLC., PO Box 573, Highland, IL 62249 / 800-966-2379